LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

"GOLF PLEASURE & TASTE" N 19

Issue No. 19 is truly spring-like, and we decided to produce it before the start of the golf season to distribute it to all golf courses in Switzerland and Northern Italy. This summer, we will participate in 8 golf tournaments and distribute the magazine on site. This edition is also a TRAVEL Edition, with a special focus on the island of Minorca and its wonders. Other golf destinations described in this issue are in German-speaking Switzerland and Northern Italy, particularly the Biella area, as well as Tuscany and central Italy.

Abroad, we highlight some high-quality resorts, such as Maradiva in Mauritius, Bawe

Island in Zanzibar, Francourt in South Africa, and Somabay in Egypt. But our magazine is also about fashion and glamour, with our Fashion for Ladies section and the concept "5 Senses Pleasure Event" in the beautiful location of My Winetime in downtown Zurich.

Enjoy your reading!

PRESERVING CULTURAL HERITAGE, ONE STORY AT A TIME:

THE ENCHANTING JOURNEY OF THEODOR AND GRACE BOOKS

In an era where digital screens often dominate children's attention. a remarkable literary venture is weaving cultural heritage into beautiful keepsakes for families across Europe. Theodor and Grace Books, founded by Tessy Antony de Nassau, is revolutionizing how we preserve and share local traditions with the next generation. «It started as a mother's dream,» shares Tessy, who created the series with inspiration from her sons. TRH Princes Gabriel and Noah. and named it after young Theodor. «I wanted to create something that would celebrate our rich cultural tapestry while creating lasting memories for families.» The concept has resonated deeply. In partnership with the prestigious Hirslanden Clinic in Zurich, every newborn family now receives a Theodor and Grace book as part of their welcome gift - an initiative that has touched over 400 families and counting. This thoughtful gesture has evolved into something more significant: a cultural time capsule that marks not just a birth, but a moment in history. The success story extends beyond hospital walls. Through a strategic partnership with Swiss publishing giant Orell Füssli, the books have found their way into countless homes across Switzerland. In Luxemboura, the distribution network tells a similar tale of success, with local bookstores embracing this unique celebration of cultural heritage. What sets these books apart is their dual appeal. For local families, they serve as a precious record of their city's traditions during their child's birth year. For expat families, they become an invaluable bridge to their new home's culture. «Each page turns into a conversation starter, a way to understand and embrace local customs, » explains Tessy. The brand's presence at the prestigious 'Kinder Lesen' book fair in Zurich earlier this year further cemented its position in the children's literature landscape. Looking ahead, the vision is clear: to expand this cultural celebration to more cities across Europe. The team is actively seeking like-minded partners and sponsors who share their passion for preserving traditions through storytelling. It's more than just a book series; it's a movement to ensure that our smallest citizens grow up with a strong connection to their cultural storytelling. Looking ahead, the vision is clear: to expand this cultural celebration to more cities across Europe. The team is actively seeking likeminded partners and sponsors who share their passion for preserving local traditions through storytelling. It's more than just a book series; it's a movement to ensure that our smallest citizens grow up with a strong connection to their cultural roots.

For families interested in starting their own cultural journey, both the Luxembourg and Zurich editions are available through select bookstores and online platforms. As the Instagram community @

TheodorAndGraceBooks shows, these books are already creating precious moments in homes across Europe.

In a world that's increasingly interconnected, Theodor and Grace Books reminds us that our local traditions and customs are worth preserving, celebrating, and passing on to the next generation. It's not just about reading stories; it's about creating them.

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

The Dolder Golf Club Zurich was founded in 1907 and it is one of the oldest golf clubs in Switzerland. The private 9-hole course is located in the area of the city of Zurich and is idyllically embedded in the forest of the Adlisberg. Guests are welcome. Tee times are to be agreed through the secretariat. The course is located on the southern slope of the Adlisberg.

For this reason, the many inclines make the place, despite its clarity, a physically and mentally challenging experience. 2004/05, the place was gently rebuilt and renewed all greens. The 9 hole course can be played in two passes. The deductions remain the same in both rounds. Slopes, stepped greens, bunkers and old, dense trees complicate the game. The course is not very long, but the greens are small and well defended. Precision is therefore more important than length.

"NO SPORT IS MORE DEPENDENT ON MENTAL ATTITUDE THAN GOLF" (DR. JOSEPH PARENT)

TAKE YOUR HANDICAP TO THE NEXT LEVEL

The driving range is your second home. Here, you've learned to master your tee shot. The ball flies in a straight line and effortlessly clears the 200-meter mark. Your next challenge is the putting green, where you feel confident putting the ball in the hole in just one shot. Everything looks good, and you're full of confidence.

After this successful practice, you're convinced you can improve your handicap in the upcoming tournament. You've demonstrated your skills and are ready for the next challenge.

But as you stand at the starting line, club in hand, your heart begins to race. You doubt your abilities and repeat the mantra in your head: «I can't mess this up!» You execute the downswing, but uncertainly, and botch the tee shot. The ball lands too close, and you hear yourself saying, «I messed up again!» Your colleague reminds you to stay calm and maintain focus. But how does that work?

Mental Training - The Key to Success

Mental training is the answer. Through targeted training, you can learn to develop the right mindset and successfully control your shots. With mental techniques, you can direct your focus on the positive, control your heart rate, mentally relax, and stay focused. Mental training will lead you to your optimal performance state and thus improve your handicap.

Interested? Contact me for psychological and mental training in golf. As a former golfer and certified mental trainer in sports and nutritional psychology consultant, I can help you improve your performance and lower your handicap.

The landscape is like a mosaic of shades and contrasts, over a surface area of just over 700 square km. The island is about 53km across from east to west. Right in the middle is Monte Toro, the highest point at 358 metres. The northern coast is compelling: harsh and wild, with scarce vegetation and islets and beaches of dark reddish sand. The southern coast is formed of beautiful sheltered ravines and woodland groves leading down to picture postcard coves of white sand and turquoise seas.

The climate is particularly mild and temperate, although a characteristic of the island is the force of the tramontana wind. It's a wind that is so strong it has molded the landscape. The island is divided into eight administrative councils: Maó, Ciutadella, Alaior, Es Castell, Sant Lluís, Es Mercadal, Ferreries and Es Mig jorn Gran.

BIOSPHERE RESERVE & TALAYOTIC MENORCA

Farming has altered the shape of the land significantly over the centuries, traditionally in a sustainable way. Economic growth strives to be compatible with the preservation of the island's natural heritage. The

Welcome to Menorca, the island that's all about tranquillity, nature and slow living. Menorca has always been a crossroads, a haven of many cultures. Nowadays the island remains a place of welcome, open to the world, a wonderful place for unique experiences.

Menorca's best known attractions are without a doubt its coves and untouched beaches. However there is so much more: countryside activities, outdoor sports, local culinary delights, handicrafts and products Made in Menorca, a history thousands of years old as well as a whole range of cultural activities. Menorca is infinite.

Before going into more details about the island, here are a few facts to get to know the place: Menorca is a remarkable place, like an iceberg of nature and tranquillity right in the heart of the western Mediterranean. Like an iceberg because there is so much more here than at first glance: most of the island's treasures are apparent only to those who actively seek them out. Only then is Menorca's essence revealed.

The island is calm and serene, but there is at the same time an impression of strength and energy. Over the centuries Menorca has been a prized possession, strategically and commercially; its history of invasions and dominations have contributed to its cosmopolitan nature.

whole island was declared a Biosphere Reserve in October 1993 by virtue of the close association between man and territory.

Local farming practices are perceived quite clearly in the landscape, in the ancient custom of making use of natural resources. Miles of dry stone walls traditionally lattice the farmlands. Menorca is highly valued for its environmental diversity because most Mediterranean ecosystems can be seen here.

The Natural Park Albufera des Grau is the nucleus zone of the Biosphere Reserve, an area of about 5.006,7 hectares that includes a saline lagoon, a stretch of coastline and several islets.

The ancient land that is Menorca accumulates a vast archaeological heritage unique in the world. Spread out over the island, these monuments are in a magnificent state of conservation, two thousand year old witnesses of the era when they were built. The density of these archaeological sites is remarkable: there are on average two monuments to every square kilometre, forming a lasting element of the Menorcan landscape. The most emblematic buildings are the navetas, although the proposed UNESCO World Heritage Site has been named after the talayot.

NATURAL MENORCA

The countryside in Menorca is generally unspoiled. Most of the ecosystems typically found in the western Mediterranean can be seen here. They are still biologically very diverse as a result of diligent preservation of natural resources. Almost 70% of the island territory is protected. There is also a Marine Reserve on the northern coast which includes the longest stretch of unspoiled coastline of the island.

There are a hundred or so islets dotted along the coastline, unblemished by humans and of great ecological value. These little islands are inhabited by endemic animals, including eight subspecies of Lilford's wall lizard, each subspecies unique and different. There are a number of ecosystems well worth exploring: woods, cliffs, wetlands, torrents, vernal pools, as well as ravines carved by erosion of the limestone rock

The best known aspects of Menorca's scenery are its beaches. Along the 216km of coastline, there are about eighty sandy bays, as well as numerous coves and inlets tucked into the shore

Along the northern coast the landscape is wild and untamed, with predominantly earthy, ochre and golden tones. There are amazing beaches and coves, as well as fantastic snorkelling and scuba diving locations. Cala Pregonda might well be the best known natural beach, but Cavalleria and CalaPilar are equally stunning. The beautiful landscape of La Vall is where Es Bot and Es Tancat are located, the twin beaches of Alagiarens, Cala Presili and Cala Tortuga are neighbouring beaches located in the nature reserve Paraue Natural la Albufera des Grau Those who prefer beaches with some facilities but still want a stunning setting will love the beaches at Cala Morell Arenal de Son Saura (Son Parc), the wide sandy beach at Es Grau, or Cala Mesquida.

The southern coastline is irresistibly appealing, with turquoise blue sea, fine white sand and leafy woods providing shade almost down to the water's edge. The best known natural beaches are: the twin beaches of Son Saura, the famous beaches of Cala en Turaueta. Cala Macarella y Macarelleta, as well as Cala Mitjana and Mitjaneta. Trebalúger and Cala Escorxada beaches are two jewels which are somewhat quieter as it is quite a long walk to reach them. Biniagus is another delightful option: it is the widest unspoilt beach of the south coast and is easily accessible for a day at the beach, as is tiny Atalis beach, at the end of Son Bou beach. The most beautiful beaches next to resorts are: Son Xoriguer; majestic Cala Galdana, which is almost always calm. sheltered as it is by the cliffs; the long stretch of sand at Sant Tomàs and Cala en Porter

CULTURAL MENORCA

You can go on a journey through time when you visit the many monuments that have been built over the centuries. They reflect all the different cultures that have come to the island over the course of its chequered history. Menorca is traditionally very artistic; the oldest opera house in Spain is located here, putting on frequent productions.

Menorca has long been a source of inspiration to artists. This small Mediterranean island has earned a solid reputation over the years as a land of culture where all the art forms - music, art, theatre, and cinema - are embraced. Music lovers can enjoy live performances of the highest standard.

There is the Opera Season that has been taking place every year since the 1970s. The Jazz Festival of Menorca and the Classical Music Festivals (in both Maó and Ciutadella) are yearly events. The latest addition to the musical calendar is the Festival Pedra Viva. The performing arts hold annual events in Menorca. The main event is the Premi Born de Teatre award, one of the most important drama awards in Spain. The Teatre Principal de Maó is the oldest opera theatre in Spain and schedules a full programme every year. The Teatre des Born and the Orfeó Maonès are two other theatres regularly staging performances.

The International Film Festival of Menorca and the micro theatre shows are both getting bigger and more popular every year. There is a range of activities regularly held in the Museu de Menorca and the Museu Municipal de Ciutadella, as well as in other museums, art galleries and exhibition halls.

The patron saint festivities take place all over the island during the summer months. Horses play a prominent part in these festivities, but the local councils also put on a range of cultural events for everyone to enjoy.

The local bar and restaurant associations organize culinary events every year featuring the island cuisine.

CUISINE

Menorca is an island full of flavours. Enterprising restaurants have given a delightful modern twist to traditional homely dishes. Local products such as the cheese, wine and gin have gained worldwide renown.

Simplicity is the essence of Menorcan cuisine; its foundation lies in people who are down-to-earth, but who know how to enjoy life and how to make the most of what they have. Within every apparently humble dish there lies a touch of refinement, a delightful hint of foreign cultures.

Traditional cookery books all contain recipes for oliaigua and other vegetable dishes, seafaring delicacies such as caldereta de langosta, meat and game recipes, stuffed aubergines and other oven baked dishes like perol. There are lots of recipes for pastries as Menorcans have a very sweet tooth. Carquinyols, flaons, pastissets and amargos are some of the sweet and savoury pastries that are made here.

The one Menorcan product known world-wide is surely mayonnaise. Experts agree that it was originally a local sauce made here on the island and that it spread to the rest of the world after the French invaded Menorca in the 18th century.

The theory is that the Duke of Richelieu tasted the sauce while he was on the island, and then took the recipe back to the French court where it became known as mahonnaise, in reference to the town Maó

The local food industry has created a hall-mark of guarantee Made in Menorca. A prime example is the cheese which has obtained the protected designation of origin (PDO) Mahón-Menorca and has recently been classified among the best in the world. Menorcan cheese is square in shape, with a darkish reddish brown rind and a slightly salty flavour.

The Gin from Maó has been attributed a protected geographical indication (PGI) and is very well known both in Menorca and abroad.

The Menorcan gin is the oldest gin in Spain. It is distilled from wine alcohol with juniper berries and a selection of herbs in old copper stills heated by wood fires and is one of the most aromatic gins on the market.

There are some traditional liquors and spirits as well as the Menorcan gin that are produced on the island, such as herb liquors, the native camomile liquor and citric fruit liquors which are drunk after a meal as a digestif. In recent years some artisan breweries have started up. The beer they brew is made from natural unpasteurised ingredients. The result is a range of signature brews of different flavours and characteristics

Olive oil is another quality food product. There are a few extra virgin olive oils produced in Menorca, thanks to enterprising local producers, although only very small amounts are made at the moment.

The hallmark 'Made in Menorca' recognises some of the local meat products, particularly cured pork. Carn-i-xulla is the most characteristic product, dating back to ancient roman curing methods. Other types of cured pork products are 'sobrasadas' (both mild and mature), 'botifarrons' and 'cuixots'.

There is a small amount of honey made on the island. Prized for many centuries, the Roman author Pliny claimed the island's honey was the best in the world next to Greek honey. On an island surrounded by sea, there can be no shortage of salt. By the end of the 20th century, however, sea salt production had ceased, but it has started up again very recently, the result being high quality sea salt sold either pure or mixed with herbs and spices.

Special mention must be made of the Menorcan chamomile, a particular variety of Santolina chamaecyparissus subspecies magónica, which grows here. The plant is exceptionally aromatic and Is renowned for its many health benefits.

MENORCA ALL YEAR ROUND

THE EXPERIENCE OF OUR REPORTER FABIO CAMPANELLA INVITED BY THE MENORCA TOURISM OFFICE

From October to April is when the island gets its second wind, when everything calms down. This is the time of year when the island reveals its lesser known aspect, its true unspoilt side. It's a great time for those who want to get away from a frantic city pace, getting back in touch with nature for a well earned rest. It is without a shadow of a doubt a great place for a break whatever the time of year.

There are cultural events all year round. It is true they are lots in the summer months, but Menorca still has an interesting range of cultural activities in the winter months, including the Jazz Festival of Menorca, the Opera Season, the Day (Diada) of Menorca and the Festivity of Santa Cecilia. There is a full programme put on by the local entities such as the Teatre Principal in Maó, the Orfeó Maonès, the Cercle Artístic in Ciutadella and the Teatre de Calós.

The archaeological and architectural heritage of Menorca is of course an excellent reason to come for a cultural break. Many talayotic sites are open all year round, as are the monuments that are part of the British route, the Fortifications route, the Religious monuments route and the Museums route.

There are places that capture your heart from the first breath, and Menorca is one of them. As soon as I landed on the island, even out of season, I felt a pure, enveloping air, capable of regenerating body and mind. Nature here dominates unchallenged, with wild landscapes, Mediterranean scents and glimpses that seem to have come out of a painting.

My stay at the Hotel Catalonia was characterized by comfort and attention to detail: impeccable cleanliness and a buffet breakfast that every morning transformed into a journey through the flavors of the island.

During the week I explored some unique structures, authentic jewels immersed in greenery and perfectly integrated with the surrounding environment. The Menorca Experimental, the Torralbenc and the Amagatay offer a refined and intimate experience, ideal for those looking for a romantic refuge or a regenerating stay. Fontenille and the central Faustino also left an indelible mark on my heart, with the desire to return as soon as possible.

A surprising experience was the visit to the Golf Club Son Parc, a corner of paradise immersed in infinite nature. Here, the contrast between the green of the course and the blue of the sky merges with the song of the peacocks in freedom, creating an atmosphere of absolute peace. Playing golf and meditating in such a magical place was an unexpected emotion, made even more special by the professionalism and kindness of the director Paola.

Menorca is also an island of authentic flavors. The dinners at the Arjau Restaurant and at Sao Fonda were an explosion of taste, a real sensory journey between typical dishes and very fresh ingredients. I cannot forget the genuine atmospheres of Ses Forquilles and Ses Quelleres, where every bite tells the story and traditions of this land.

What made my trip even more special was the guide Isabel, who with her passion and expertise helped me discover the historical and cultural wonders of Menorca, revealing hidden corners and fascinating stories.

Menorca is a pearl of the Balearics that enchants in every season. Its wild beaches, secret coves, imposing cliffs and relaxed pace make it a perfect place for those seeking beauty, authenticity and serenity. An island to be experienced with all the senses, an experience that leaves its mark and a desire: to return, again and again.

FAUSTINO GRAN, A COLLECTION OF PALACES IN THE HISTORIC CENTER OF CIUTADELLA

A MARRIAGE OF MEDITERRANEAN CULTURES

Bathed in the warm light of the sea, Ciutadella hides in its cobbled streets centuries of history that Faustino Gran reveals to its guests through its three manor palaces, the cardinal points of a completely immersive experience.

THE HEADY SCENT OF THE EARTH

Between green and gold, be it winter or summer, the Minorcan countryside displays a vibrant color palette. Able to offer the best fruits of the earth, a touch bathed in light and swayed by the sea winds, it offers its pine forests as an oasis in the middle of summer.

AN EVEN BALANCE BETWEEN FLAVOUR AND HEALTH

Menorca offers more than just charming scenery. Its land, cultivated from time immemorial, keeps our chef supplied with an endless variety of ingredients to create healthy, balanced, mouth-watering dishes. That is why we make the most of the seasonal produce from our kitchen garden, where we harvest much of the food that we serve at the table.

ENDLESS BLUE

Menorca is an island. And, as such, the sea is omnipresent and defines it, offering crystal clear waters. Here swimmers, divers, sailors or a simple observer appreciate the sea.

RELAXATION TWINNED WITH NOBLE NATURE

Experience the two sides of Faustino Gran: its illustrious, noble, aristocratic character, and its bountiful natural aspect. The guest rooms echo the natural simplicity of the countryside, while their luxury is reflected in the experiences offered by the Casa de Pau, whether they be private functions or sailing trips.

SEE MENORCA FROM ITS HORIZON

If the island looks beautiful from within, viewing it from the sea is like gazing at a painting that has just received the final stroke of the artist's brush. That is why we're delighted to offer you the opportunity to sail around Menorca's coastline in one of our private boats.

PhysioGolfMarbella

My name is Chiara Cantone, I was born in Biella and at 20 years old I graduated in 2001 in Novara as a Physiotherapist.

Always a lover of sport, nutrition and health, I wanted to get involved and began my professional experience in the south of Spain in Marbella.

From the first moment I was struck by the large number of golf courses and, with a clinical eye, how potentially harmful the golf swing could be. But I had to know more so I approached the world of golf as an amateur.

As a former volleyball player, I didn't have too many difficulties in understanding the dynamics of the game (in volleyball the ball is simply bigger and the field smaller than in golf) and my sports mentality helped me a lot to be determined in training towards my goal.

As a physiotherapist I decided to specialize in golf injuries since, having done a market research, none of my colleagues had this profile; I started taking lessons, training, playing competitions, until after several years and exams, in 2012 I became a golf instructor.

From here it all started; I integrated my knowledge of anatomy, biomechanics and health into the technical gesture of golf and together with my friend and colleague Luis Martinez (golf instructor and professional) I created the revolutionary Less is More Golf® method

Our headquarters is Magna Marbella Golf

Academy, in the beautiful golf valley, in Nueva Andalusia, a district of Marbella.

It is a method with a holistic approach oriented to the health of the player at 360 degrees, thanks to which our students learn or continue playing without incurring the pain or injuries typical of the game of golf; the swing is natural, respects the innate abilities and movements of the individual, learning through the 5 senses.

We complete our wellness offer with workshops dedicated to well-being, to give practical advice to improve the quality of life of the people who participate through mindfulness exercises, functional training, postural education, etc.

In my team of teachers, we have physiotherapists, masseurs, osteopaths, personal trainers, sports psychologist and medical support, being the method endorsed by several clinics on the coast as healthy.

To complete the product, we offer through the Physio Golf Marbella platform, therapeutic treatments at home or room service in the hotel, 7 days a week and at any time, to allow golfers to fully enjoy their stay in Marbella and the golf experience, without being limited by unexpected physical problems.

Our motto is «Feel better, live better and play better».

Let's all be the best versions of ourselves

Jean-Guy de Gabriac - Founder Brussels 15-17 September 2023

11:

To promote global well-being we use advanced technologies such as C.M.F. therapy (Complex magnetic Fields) which allows us to achieve surprising results in a short time compared to other therapies, in terms of physical pain.

A university-trained physiotherapist, I became a golf instructor in Madrid in 2012 and combined the world of health with that of golf in Marbella, southern Spain.

The profile of the golfer fascinated me right away and the approach from a golfing point of view is very similar to the medical one. It is necessary to diagnose the main errors, determine a treatment and give specific exercises until the next appointment.

The golfer is a person who wants to be well and fit to be able to play as much as possible and from this need my 2 projects were born; Physio Golf Marbella is a platform of health therapists specialized in home services to be able to physically help golfers not to miss a single day of golf, treating their pain and injuries.

Magna Marbella Golf Academy, is located in the beautiful golf valley, in Nueva Andalucia and is open to the public 7 days a week.

The Marbella public is decidedly cosmopolitan and we receive visits from all over the world: for this reason we also offer an online lesson service, to be able to follow our students wherever they are in the world.

Given the success of the method, especially with female golfers of the Ladies Golf Group Marbella which is celebrating its 4th anniversary, we have decided to start creating experiences in Switzerland, (Zurich, summer 2025) Emirates and Red Sea (autumn 2025 and 2026 season) to give everyone the opportunity to enjoy well-being and a healthy and highly effective Golf.

Just 15 minutes away from Stone Town, this private island features Africa's first «island-in-an-island» concept, combining the feeling of being on a deserted island with unparalleled elegance. Here, breathtaking natural beauty and sustainable luxury merge to create an unmatched sanctuary, where land and sea dance together in an eternal rhythm – and "Hakuna Matata" is more than just a saying; it's a way of life.

A Private Paradise for Discerning Travelers

For absolute privacy, exclusive in-villa dining is available with private chefs transforming each meal into a culinary journey. Guests can also indulge in a wellness center and arrive stylishly by private boat or helicopter.

A Sanctuary of Timeless Elegance

Named after its Swahili namesake Bawe, meaning coral, this resort embodies the untamed beauty of the African coastal landscape. In collaboration with Lago, a leading designer for hotel furnishings, a harmonious interplay of refined architecture, African design elements, and sustainable materials has been created. "Our vision was to harmonize luxury and sustainability while preserving the island's ecosystem," says Attilio Azzola, founder of The Cocoon Collection.

Safari & Beach: Two Worlds in One Day

Thanks to its proximity to Tanzania's legendary nature reserves, guests can experience an exciting safari in the day and, in the evening, enjoy a sunset and the changing colors of the Indian Ocean from their villa with a glass of champagne. The personal butler can organize both safari adventures and fulfill other requests. The daily transformation of Bawe Island is a captivating spectacle. The tides reveal sandbanks, expose coral reefs, and bring marine life to the surface. At low tide, guests can wander to hidden sea caves and sandy beaches that disappear at high tide. It is this natural interplay of land and water that makes Bawe so unique.

Maritime Adventures & Exclusive Experiences

For the adventurous, Bawe Island is the gateway to Zanzibar's fascinating underwater world. Guests can embark on exclusive diving excursions, guided snorkeling trips, or leisurely tours by kayak or stand-up paddleboard. For luxurious outings on the water, yacht and speedboat charters are available.

On land, guests can expect a top-tier culinary journey with a diverse dine-around program at four exceptional restaurants and a bar. Club (adults only) — every menu is a dining experience. The View Bar tempts with cocktails and stunning sea views, while themed evenings celebrate the flavors of the world. For special moments, private beach dinners and a farm-to-table experience in the on-site spice garden highlight Zanzibar's rich culinary tradition.

A GOLFER'S HAVEN

THE PERFECT YEAR-ROUND GOLF DESTINATION

Blessed with a year round temperate climate, Somabay is the perfect golfing destination to enjoy an experience like no other.

The championship golf course at Somabay was designed by the golfing icon that is Gary Player. The South African has firmly established himself as one of the greats not just in terms of his playing career but, for many years now in the world of golf course design.

In the mid 1990's Gary Player was approached to design a course on the Somabay Resort and he duly delivered a truly world class layout which he referred to as the Pebble Beach of Africa based on its proximity to the Red Sea.

The course plays through the desert around the resort with no less than 6 holes positioned on the dramatic Red Sea coastline. Tees, fairways and greens provide a playing oasis as the course meanders around the resorts with constant, breath-taking views of the Red Sea all with stunning mountains as a backdrop.

The golf facilities continue to improve at Somabay and world class practice facilities by way of a 300m double ended floodlit range with exquisite turf teeing area has been joined by an incredible 5000 sqm Short Game Arena, designed by James Edwards from EDI Golf that provides an unlimited variety of opportunity for those wanting to hone their short game.

The Par 3 centered in the heart of the Somabay Academy, for novice golfers to also practice and improve their game, and with the expert tuition from our academy team, the Par 3 course provides a safe and challenging environment for those new to the game day & night.

Experience Golf in the middle of the Red Sea. In Somabay, we've transformed golfing into a extraordinary experience. Discover a three-hour adventure from Somabay Marina with 50 golf balls in tow, while you tee off, your companions can soak in the stunning views, groove to melodic beats, snorkel and marvel at the underwater wonders. As stewards of the environment, we ensure responsible collection of all golf balls post – game during a snorkeling experience in 3-meter-deep waters, contributing to marina conservation.

It is our aim to make golf more fun, to deliver golf experiences that leave you coming back for more. What could be better than enjoying great golf in a great place that leaves you with a massive smile on your face
